

Coffey County Youth- Livestock Housing Declaration Form

Family Name: _____

Youth exhibitor name(s): _____

Youth Livestock projects are intended to help teach youth the responsibility for the proper care of their animal(s) as well as positively represent the Coffey County 4-H & FFA communities as a whole. This includes providing the proper care, handling and training of the livestock project animals by the specified Coffey County 4-H/FFA members for the majority of the time the animal is owned by that youth, for project purposes. It is recognized that all 4-H animals reside at the youth's place of residence. However, the youth is still personally responsible for the animal and should regularly – preferably on a daily basis—provide such care. Therefore, housing location should be such that care may be provided as expected for livestock project animal(s).

To help ensure Coffey County 4-H livestock projects are properly accounted for, document the following information regarding the housing and care of your livestock project during the required ownership window. (Apr.1 through county fair for market beef; May 1 through county fair for all other livestock).
